Ratepayers of Municipal District To Get Weekly Newspaper With M.D. News

Arrangements have been made to supply all ratepayers of the Municipal District of Athabasca with a weekly copy of a newspaper published by Community Publications of Edmonton. The publishers print the Lac la Biche Herald, Boyle Beacon and Colinton Clipper.

These arrangements were made, subject to approval by the ratepayers at the February meeting early in 1952. The plan is to provide each resident ratepayer with a weekly newspaper that will carry all the Municipal news, minutes of meetings and advertising that the Municipal office finds it necessary to do from time to time at no charge. The Municipal district will pay the publisher $1.00 per year for each resident ratepayer, who will automatically receive the paper of his choice, among those listed above.

This works out at 25c for each 13 papers, or less than 2c per copy. The papers also carry other news of local and world-wide interest. Wherever this plan has been put into operation it has met with unanimous approval of the ratepayers. Councillors like it because it keeps their constituents informed of Municipal business, and ratepayers like it for the same reason. The Provincial Government made provision for the municipal weekly paper plan at the 1949 session of the Alberta legislature.

Following are additional minutes from the September meeting of council at the Municipal office in Meanook:

Mr. Pue of Community Publications interviewed the council re publishing a weekly newspaper in the municipal district. The matter was discussed by the council, and the following motion was passed.

Carried.

Middle East Debt to Britain

Much is being made of Britain's faults in anti-British publications in the United States and countries behind the Iron Curtain of Soviet domination. British colonial policy over the past years is pictured as cruel and selfish, which is a deliberate misrepresentation. Whatever faults individual governors of British colonies have been guilty of in past decades, the policy of Britain has been beneficial to the backward countries it has ruled.

British policy has been one of gradual preparation for self-government of native peoples wherever the flag has been flown. That is why India received her independence, why the great dominions of the Commonwealth have been created out of former colonies. The same thing is true in the Middle East, where British industry, engineering skill and governmental genius has had sway.

Today Persia, known as Iran, is taking advantage of the difficulties under which Britain is laboring, by claiming her right to her national resources. While such a claim is within the national rights of Iran, it should not be forgotten by critics of British policy that Iran owes a tremendous debt to Britain for the development of these latent resources. Iran could not and never would develop them alone.

Another country that owes Britain a great debt of gratitude is Egypt. It was under British approval and help that Egypt won her liberation from the enslavement of the Turkish empire, and since that day it has been British wealth and engineering enterprise that has developed Egypt's independence. If the Sudan today is a prize for Egypt to covet, it is because British gold, blood and labor has made of a desert country a prosperous and contented people.

Monuments to British colonial policy and its great benefits are there for the world to see. In the Sudan at the Upper Nile town of Assuan, where the great Assuan dam is located. Built by British engineers and completed in 1902 at a cost of 25,560-million dollars, this dam, with its capacity of 2,420-million cubic metres, holds the waters of the Upper Nile back until flood time comes round when vast territories of barren land are made fruitful by its 180 sluice gates being opened.

Well might the greedy and inefficient Egyptian government covet control of the Sudan. But the Sudanese themselves, who finally ended their hatred of Britain at the Battle of Atbara in 1898, when Lord Kitchener revenged the murder of General Gordon by the Dervishes, are opposed to the Egyptian rule and enjoy the prosperity of British rule, which will soon end, they know, in self-government and nationhood.

What Is Free Enterprise?

The Alberta Wheat Pool, in their November 9th news budget, pans the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on its preaching for continuance of "free enterprise" in Canada. It suggests the Chamber give the people of Canada a clear definition of free enterprise. Whether one agrees with the Wheat Pool's arguments or not, points raised do merit serious thought.

Does free enterprise mean that the match manufacturers, the bakers, the glass companies, optical manufacturers, and other such people are justified in getting together to maintain monopoly prices?

Does it mean the manufacturer can fix the retail price for his product and compel a local merchant to sell his goods not below such a level, with a penalty of non-supply if such a price is not maintained?

Does it mean that a professional man in one Canadian province cannot practice in another without paying an exorbitant fee and undergoing another examination?

Does it mean that Canadian cotton goods manufacturers, for instance, must have high tariff protection in order to stay in business?

Does it mean that the Canadian branch of an American automobile manufacturing company must obtain a higher price for a product manufactured in Windsor, Ontario, than is obtained by the same company for a product manufactured across the river in Detroit?

Wasn't it Socrates who used to insist on his opponents in debate "defining their terms?"

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce certainly should give an explicit definition of what it means by "free enterprise."

Churchill's Heavy Task

The new British government, headed by Winston Churchill, has stepped into one of the most difficult positions to confront any government. Its task is all the more difficult because of the fact that its over-all majority in parliament is only a little bigger than that the former Labor government had. There are things to be accomplished that only a determined and strong government can do. Some things will have to be dealt with more tenderly than a government with a big majority would need to demonstrate.

Some idea of the problems before the Churchill cabinet may be gathered from a survey of the headlines in the daily press. They include such statements as: Narrow Churchill Majority Leaves Britain Uncertain; Churchill Victory Demands Care in U.K. Relation With U.S.; British Division Sails For Middle East; Iran Dispute to Come Before U.N.—and, if these are not enough, a glimpse at the internal difficulties in British national life should convince everyone that Churchill has taken over a tremendously heavy task.

More Hatching Eggs Needed

The demand in Alberta for baby chicks this past season far exceeded the supply and it looks as though the 1952 spring hatching season will bring even greater demands. There is a shortage of Alberta-produced hatching eggs, and in spite of high commercial egg price producers can get still higher returns from their eggs by producing hatching eggs.

According to F. J. Higginson, Acting Poultry Commissioner for Alberta, more producers with high quality flocks should consider getting them approved. Requirements consist mainly of efficient management and differ very little from practices that should be followed by all egg producers.

Alberta needs more hatching eggs—and Alberta farmers and poultrymen should produce them.

A Power in Everyday Life

All of us have heard, from time to time, that soldiers and sailors, in the face of death in the service of their country, have meekly turned to God, seeking help from their Creator in the hour of their agonizing need.

Many of these men have not been actively connected with religious organizations. Obviously, so far as they were concerned, the church meant little or nothing. Apparently, there is an opportunity for church leaders to do a little thinking on their own on the why of this attitude.

Why should an individual have to face death and suffering to experience the power of salvation? Plainly, because no one has made plain to him, or her, the full meaning of religion as a source of constant power in everyday living.

The Bible Today:

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form and void and darkness covered the face of the deep.—Genesis 1, 1 and 2.

Note and Comment

A unique tribute paid to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip by the Fourth Estate is the Royal Visit issue of the Sapperton (B.C.) Review. Two pages—front and back—are printed in Royal Purple ink and a special message inset in gold. We think Publisher Wm. McCafferty should mail a copy of his paper to Clarence House.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has just received a 20-page letter in which the writer went into a long dissertation on the relationship between crime and the seasons of the year.

The writer said he knew Mr. Hoover would appreciate knowing of his theories on crime.

"You may not be able to find the time to reply to me," he write, "but you will continue to hear from me because I have nothing else to do in this place."

The return address was that of Washington's largest mental institution.

PANS OFFICIALDOM

Dear Sir—I have just reached the Pacific Coast after a trip from Ottawa during which I followed in the footsteps of Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. I remained in most of the principal cities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia just long enough, and met sufficient persons in trying to do a public relations job (I travelled everywhere by air), that I could reach at least a surface conclusion about the immediate reaction to the Royal Visit.

Everywhere it was the same story: criticism about officialdom monopolizing the attention of the two Royal visitors to such an extent that the general public was lucky to catch a glimpse of the heir to the throne and her consort. If a lieutenant-governor or some other official did not have his face obscuring the view, his wife did. The official car travelled at such speed the thousands who lined the streets—often for hours—would have had as much chance of "getting acquainted" with the appearance of royalty as if their automobile had been jet powered. If Their Royal Highnesses on return to England have any criticism about the generosity of applause they should take it to consideration that the average man was not given an opportunity to work up much enthusiasm.

I tell you this because while I was in Edmonton your "open" letter to the Princess was drawn to my attention. I wished you to know that conditions of which you complained were not peculiar to the Alberta capital.

Your letter expressed the opinion of the less articulate subjects of His Majesty.

I admire your courage for saying what should be said. This is not criticism of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip but of the red tape and official desire for cudos which we, as democratic Canadians had, up to now, thought was at a minimum in our country.

PREFERRED RISKS

Dear Sir — Why doesn't some insurance company in Canada sell auto insurance polices only to non-drinking teetotaller drivers? The rate for sober drivers should be half that for drunks. Why should I have to pay for drinking drivers' accidents?

NON DRINKER.

INFLATION'S TARGET

Dear Sir—Being that wages, taxes and even bus fares and all other living costs are being raised, how about similar raises for distressed veterans and widows? Nearly all government employees get good wages, wage increases and cost-of-living bonus. Well, how about it, Government leaders? M.A.G., Jr.

SAYS WE'RE RIGHT

Dear Sir—I have read Mr. Pue's letter to Princess Elizabeth about the Royal tour, and I think the same about it as you do. I read the Legal Record every week and like it fine. I am sure there are a lot more who feel the same about things as you do. I am a veteran, served overseas and know the whole story.

REQUEST FROM IOWA

Dear Sir — Would you please send me a copy of your letter to Princess Elizabeth in The Edmonton Sun Oct. 29. I read it in a copy sent to a friend here, and consider it a masterpiece. Although born in Michigan, my parents were Canadians and I guess quite some Canadian blood seeps through my veins.

"BEST EVER"

Dear Sir—I would like to say that Mr. Pue's open letter to Princess Elizabeth is the best piece he has ever written. This letter should have greater circulation than even your own papers can give it.

PIONEERS TO COMPILE AN EARLY FAMILY HISTORY OF PROVINCE

Closely linked with the history of Southern Alberta are the names of a host of pioneer families that are gradually fading into obilivion along with the horse and buggy.

These families settled in the West long before railroads made their appearance, when there were as many Indians as there were settlers and none had an inkling of the wealth in natural resources that lay hidden under the rolling prairies. And their names have never been set down in official records.

It's quite likely they never would have been, either, if the Southern Alberta Pioneer and Old Timers Association at the annual meeting a year ago had not decided that something should be done before all chances of obtaining the old timers' records had disappeared.

It was with the idea of evolving a plan to collect this history up to and including the year 1890 that Douglas Hardwick, himself a pioneer, was persuaded to become president of the association for the present year.

With this major objective in mind, a committee was set up which developed a plan for gathering together this history.

The mechanics of this plan are simple: just one member of each pioneer family must fill out a special questionaire form and send it to the director of the nearest district. The aforementioned forms may be obtained at the larger post offices in Southern Alberta, local old-timers' associations, or by writing any director.

But the problem of finding relatives and descendents of these pioneer families is the difficult part.

The form is primarily interested in all data prior to and including, 1890 as pertaining to the "pioneer period."

In an effort to gather the records of these pioneer families in Southern Alberta, which district extends from Red Deer south to the U.S. border, a central research committe was formed by the Southern Alberta Pioneer and Old Timers Association, under the chairmanship of Mr. Hardwick. Included in the committe are Miss Mary Pinkham, O.B.E.; J. E. A. MacLeod, K.C.; Alex McTavish; W. J. Wilde, and honory secretary, Leishman McNeill.

They will be helped by a group of 22 well-known directors, each responsible for a district and for its local organization. Mr. Hardwick wishes it made perfectly clear that the forms, when completed, should be sent to the director of the nearest district, not the nearest director.

The history of each pioneer family will be woven, year by year, into the contemporary history of the country. When completed, it is hoped that copies will be placed in local museums, principal colleges and public libraries where they will be easily accessible for reference to present and future generations wishing to know the past connection of their families with the building of their country.

These histories and records will not be used for any commercial purposes whatever, and if ever published will be available to all at cost price.

The committee hopes that all will assist in this voluntary effort to save the fast-disappearing record of the past, and that no pioneer family of Southern Alberta will allow its name and history to be missed by failure to secure and send in a form.

The following are some of the names of the different districts and their directors:

Crossfield — Frank Collicutt, 2-1201 6th St. W., Calgary.

Cochrane and Stony Reserve—Dave McDougall, Cochrane.

Strathmore Brooks — Charles McKinnon, 117 10th Ave. W., Calgary.

New Booklet Stresses Importance Of Forests

The importance of Alberta's forests is the theme of a new illustrated booklet, "Alberta Forests," prepared by the Department of Lands and Forests and the Publicity Branch of the Department of Economic Affairs.

In a forward the Minister of Lands and Forests appeals to all citizens to prevent forest fires and maintain Alberta's forested areas as a source of timber and a home for wild life. "Without our forests, Alberta would be a desert," the minister states.

The booklet has been prepared to give Alberta citizens and school children authentic and accurate information on forestry in Alberta. The conservation policies and practices of the Alberta Forestry Service are outlined and other chapters deal with the economic importance of forests, fire and insect damage and conservation and reforestation.

The last pages deal with the species of trees growing in Alberta and include a map of forest areas. Copies of the booklet may be obtaind from the Department of Land and Forests, Administration Building, Edmonton.

Party Held For Avenir Survey Crew

On Nov. 3 a farewell party was held in the Avenir community hall in honor of Mr. Hugh Prichard and Mr. R. C. Driscoll of Edmonton, and for all the men who worked on the completion of the surveying. A great number of people were present. At midnight everyone gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Roland's home and was served a delicious lunch. Dancing was continued in the hall after lunch. An evening of fun was enjoyed by everybody.

Due to changes made in the surveying people are moving here and there. Mr. Roland Plamondon has bought Lloyd Plamondon's farm and moved there. Mr. Theodule St. Jean has bought Mr. Roland Plamondon's big lumber house and is expected to move in in the near future.

Mrs. Louise St. Jean and daughters, Mrs. Albert Letourneau and Mrs. Paul Bishop, have returned to Edmonton.

Edmonton Scientists Cure Barley Smut, Tackle Butter Canning

An inexpensive, simple control for barley smut was discovered recently in Edmonton by Dr. L. E. Tyner, plant pathologist with the Canada Department of Agriculture.

The chemical treatment, if used by all prairie barley producers, could save millions of bushels of barley from loss.

The chemical, which has been under test at Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Winnipeg experimental laboratories, has been found almost 100 per cent efficient. Only in one case did the treatment fail to remove all traces of smut, 0.2 per cent remained.

Treatment with the new discovery requires that seed barley be soaked 10 hours in water, and then for 48 hours in a two per cent solution of the chemical. The water-soaking is done to soften the kernel and allows the chemical to penetrate into the embryo where the smut grows.

Dr. Tyner estimates that the cost of treatment will be about 20 cents a bushel, as compared to the only alternative method, which costs usually over $1.00 a bushel.

The old method, which will be made obsolete by Dr. Tyner's discovery, was performed with a centrally located treating machine, and involved delicate control of time and temperature.

Dr. Tyner's method can be performed in a barrel.

Besides Montcalm barley in his experiments, Dr. Tyner used Newal, Titan, Plush and Glacier varieties. The treatment was equally effective with all types.

Another Edmonton man, F. W. Wood, of the University of Alberta, is seeking a method of packaging butter for shipment to distant points. Needs of northern travellers, and the navy, army and airforce have rivetted attention to the problem, and the Dominion government has given the university a grant to pay the costs of research.

A method of canning butter has for some time been used in northern areas by trappers and prospectors, and more recently by the armed forces.

However, too few people realized that canning butter does not protect it from the growth of micro-organisms as in the case of other foods. Sterilization and other processes that are used in preserving most canned goods cannot be applied to butter.

"Although we have conducted our research for only five months," stated Mr. Wood, who is assistant professor of dairying at the university, "it does seem likely that a satisfactory method can be found for preserving butter by means of a canning process."

Normally, canned butter will remain in a palatable state as long as 30 days, but it shows a pronounced tendency to deteriorate when subjected to extreme temperatures, such as in the tropics. Principal defects were rancidity due to bacterial and oxidative causes, and an objectional physical condition caused by melting.

Amiot-Dakin Wed At Plamondon

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on November 12 in St. Isadores' Church, Plamondon, when Helen, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dakin of Gourin, became the bride of Denis Amiot, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Amiot of Egg Lake. Reverend A. Ricard officiated.

The bride was attended by Jeanine Amiot, sister of the groom, who was gowned in yellow brocaded satin and net. The groom was attended by Roger Dakin, cousin of the bride. Music for the wedding was rendered by Mrs. Ostave Chevigny, who was also organist for the wedding of the bride's parents 25 years ago.

The bride was beautiful in a floor-length gown of felt brocaded satin. It was styled with an off-the-shoulder neckline and a full skirt caught up at the hem by tiny bows and showing ruffles of lace. She wore a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

A reception was held in the evening at the home of the bride's parents to about 70 guests. Later in the evening a free wedding dance was held at Plamondon, to the music of Sauer's Orchestra of Athabasca. A large crowd attended and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Young men... Here is Challenge and OPPORTUNITY

Training and experience in leadership are two of the most valuable assets you can possess, no matter what lifetime career you select. You may obtain both training and experience as a leader under a new plan whereby the Canadian Army is training young men with Junior Matriculation or Equivalent Educational Standard as Officers in the Active Force.

But there is a challenge in the standards you must meet — in the courses you take and pass before you can qualify for a commission.

And, there is opportunity in the privilege of leading Canada's soldiers at home and abroad.

If accepted you begin training at Camp Borden as an Officer Cadet to qualify as a Second Lieutenant in the Active Force. You will receive Second Lieutenant's pay while in training. When you are granted a commission you will then serve for periods of 3, 4 and 5 years as you choose under the Short Service Commission Plan. At the end of this service you may apply for a permanent commission.

To qualify you must be:—Single — Physically fit — Between 18 and 25 years of age and have a Junior Matriculation or Equivalent Educational Standard.

JUNIOR GRAIN CLUB ACHIEVEMENT DAY HELD IN SMOKY LAKE

The Smoky Lake Junior Grain Club held an Achievement Day on Tuesday, November 6, at Smoky Lake. The members of the club with some of their parents, gathered to hear reports and the results of judging in various competitions. Marion Weleschuk, club president was in the chair.

Mr. L. C. Usher, Assistant with the Junior Activities Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, judged the grain exhibits. Mr. Usher was asked to address the meeting, and he commented on the splendid response in exhibits since last year. He enumerated the possibilities each member had through being an active member of the junior club and showed slides of Junior Club work in other parts of the province. The members attending were very much impressed by the slides of the provincial championship plots in the province.

Mr. Stewart, district fieldman commented on the possibilities of improving farming practices by the implementation of junior forage clubs in different districts. He mentioned that in a short time of farming in these areas much of the land is being eroded by wind and water and mentioned that the introduction of forage crops will maintain the soil for many generations.

Mr. F. Strashok, district agriculturist, showed colored slides of junior activities in other districts and commented on the shortcomings of the local club. He also congratulated the winners in different competitions and mentioned that those who did not win should strive to do so in the years to come. He mentioned the possibilities the active members of the club may have and stated that he would like to see the Smoky Lake club work up to highest scoring club in the province.

Following are the results of the competitions: Bill Halisky was placed first and Peter Fedoretz second in the grain competition. Peter Kolodiazney was the winner in the judging competition. In the standing crop competition Peter Fedoretz took first and Bill Halisky second. Winner of the highest total score for the year was Peter Kolodiazney of Warspite.

The district agriculturist mentioned that a junior club achievement day is the show window of the club's work for the year and urged the members to put on a bigger and better show next year.

Lower Gasoline Tax Advocated By A.M.A.

Request for removal of the one cent increase in the gasoline tax and reduction of the provincial charge for motor license plates are expected to be made when the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association is held in Calgary Nov. 24.

The association maintains that the motor car license plate fee should be on a flat $10 basis, as in Ontario. It says that this reduction should be granted in fairness to the tax-burdened motor car owner.

The increase in the gasoline tax, estimated to take more than $1,000,000 from the motorists this year, also should be eliminated, says the AMA.

If this step is taken by the provincial authorities, the tax would be reduced from 10 to 9 cents a gallon. The tax was raised at the 1951 session of the legislature.

Other major questions likely to be considered by the AMA will be the need of driver training courses in the high schools, adoption of tests of applicants for drivers' licenses, highway construction and safety on the highways, and tourist promotion.

The annual meeting will be preceded by sessions of the provincial board of directors when reports from branches in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge will be submitted. These are expected to reveal that total membership of the association is near the 65,000 mark, which would be a new record.

SPACE SAVER
IRONER

IRONS EVERYTHING

Yes, it irons men's shirts — and kiddies' dresses, too, and curtains and curtain ruffles. It will press and pleat perfectly.

Just one simple motion to run it — just press the lever down. It locks in position and both your hands are free to guide the clothes. It is equipped, of course, with switch, signal light and thermostat. Plug the cord into any wall socket — no special wiring is needed.

IT IRONS — PRESSES — STEAMS

Compare this ironer with others costing twice as much. The roll of the Space Saver is bigger and longer — saves crimping on flat wear. The ironing shoe is wider and longer, with a much greater ironing surface. The heat is really efficient—1050 watts — and thermostat controlled. But look at the difference in price!

SPRUCE VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Mr. Peter Zuber has purchased a new half-ton truck.

Miss Madeline Gregus, of Blue Jay, visited her sister, Miss Katheline Gregus. Katheline Gregus is supervisor at our district school.

Miss Ries, the district nurse, was a visitor in our district school on November 9. She examined and inoculated the children.

On November 10, there was a sale at Mr. Bill Duban's place. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duban and family are moving out to Dapp, Alta.

On Nov. 10, Miss Ann Blonsky, of Blue Jay, the Frains West school supervisor, was a visitor at the home of Miss Elsie A. Koltowski and Miss Katheleen Gregus.

Miss Katheleen Gregus was a visitor at her aunt and uncle's home at Grassland on Friday, Nov. 9. From Nov. 10 to Nov. 12 she was a visitor at Miss Annie Blonsky's, and at her parents' home at Blue Jay.

On Friday, Nov. 9, there was a show at the district hall, with a small attendance.

On Sunday, Nov. 11, there was a meeting in the hall. Mr. Hryncishyn, who spent one year in the Ukraine, was the speaker. While there, he was reporting the conditions and happenings to the Ukrainian Word newspaper. He made a speech saying how the people live in the Ukraine, which now belongs to Russia. Those who come from the Ukraine to live in our districts on Canadian soil were very anxious to hear what was said and listened very patiently. Numerous questions were raised that night by listeners concerning the Ukraine. The other guest speaker was Mr. Alexsiawich of Edmonton.

Social Credit Convention At Lac la Biche

The Beaver River Constituency, Social Credit Association held its 18th annual convention in the Aurora Theatre, Lac la Biche, on Friday, November 9th. Delegates from all parts of the Constituency attended.

The new officers elected were Eldred Weeres, president; Rudolph Michetti, vice-president, and H. E. Carran, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Harry Lobay, M.L.A. for Beaver River, was unable to be present owing to having had an unfortunate accident which confined him to bed. However, two other speakers took part in the meeting, Mr. Bob Jorgenson, the genial president of the Social Credit League and Mr. Orvis Kennedy, the deservedly popular National Organizer, whose entertaining and informative speeches were well received.

Mr. Jorgenson dealt with the three stages through which the Social Credit Movement has had to pass since its inception in Alberta in 1935; first, that of ridicule by its opponents; secondly, threats of destruction; and thirdly, the attempt to ignore it. It had now, he said, successfully broken through the third stage and was now being taken in the other Canadian provinces, particularly Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Then Mr. Orvis Kennedy spoke, taking as his theme the aims of the Social Credit movement. These aims, he said, could be embodied in four principles; first the importance of the individual; second, the responsibility laid upon governments to give the people the results the people want; third, that the people must have security with freedom; and fourth, governments must come to see that what is physically possible and desirable must be made financially possible.

After a short question period the meeting then closed with the singing of "God Save the King".

ONE IN TEN

A million Canadians now have jobs in manufacturing. Ten per cent of these are in the primary textile industry. (The latest Dominion Bureau figures are 1,080,000 in manufacturing and 104,000 of these in primary textiles.)

Besides leading all other Canadian industries in numbers employed in manufacturing, primary textiles also is away ahead in the size of its payroll. It is up among the leaders in providing jobs for women and in being well spread out through the smaller communities.

Dominion Textile is a considerable part of this basic textile industry.

The Lighter Side

A Doctor's Dilemma

A new doctor was the only one available when Mr. Kelly's wife was taken ill. Called to the Kelly home, he went upstairs to the sick room but came down in a few minutes to inquire, "Have you got a corkscrew?" He took the instrument and went upstairs for the second time.

Several minutes later he was back again. "Got a screwdriver?" he asked the anxious Kelly. Instrument in hand, he went upstairs again.

Almost immediately he was back. "A chisel and mallet, quickly," he demanded.

The distraught husband could stand it no longer. "For Heaven's sake, doctor," he begged, "what's the matter with my wife?"

"Don't know yet," was the reply; "can't get my medicine bag open."

Now She Knows

"Is this the speedometer?" asked the pretty girl, tapping the glass with her finger.

"Yes, dear," he replied.

"And that's the clutch?"

"That's the clutch, darling," he said, jamming on his brakes to avoid a fast approaching truck.

"But what on earth is this?" she inquired at the same time giving the accelerator a vigorous push with her foot.

"This, dear," he said, in a soft celestial voice, "is Heaven." And picking up a harp he flew away.

Tough on Men

Life is cruel to men. When they're born, their mothers get compliments and flowers; when they get married, the bride gets presents and publicity; and when they die, their wives get the insurance and the winters in Florida.

By Himself

The class had been given a rather difficult sum to do for homework and, strange to relate, Tommy, the dunce of the class, was the only one with the correct answer.

"Did your brother help you with this, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"No, ma'am," replied Tommy truthfully. "He did it alone."

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa,-

I am thirty years old and plan to be married this winter. My fiance is a widower without children.

Now my problem is this. I have been working for ten years and like my work. I plan to keep my job, although this is not necessary from a financial standpoint. My fiance does not object except for the reason that his business is fifty miles away, which means a long ride each day or being away from home a part of each week.

Do you think we will have as great a chance for happiness with this arrangement or should I give up my job? I am afraid I shall be bored with nothing to do.

M. Y. L.

Answer:

I think you will have a greater chance for happiness if you give up your job and go with your husband. As for not having anything to do, I am sure that you will find much more to do than you realize if you try to make a pleasant home for your husband to come to after his day's work.

Since you say that finances do not enter into the picture, there in their mates. There is much less ties to engage in if you do find time hanging heavy on your hands.

Another thing is that time is running out if you plan to have a family and no woman, unless she is obliged to, should leave her small children all day with paid workers.

LOUISA

Chromiak-Creschuk Exchange Wedding Vows At Frains

Frains hall was the scene of a wedding recently, when Miss Mary Creschuk exchanged marriage vows with Orest Chromiak of Grassland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greschuk of Frains, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chromiak of Grassland.

The bride was attended by Mary Greschuk of Grassland, Lucy Greschuk of Frains and Helen Sawchyn of Grassland.

The bride wore a white silk gown, while the bridesmaids wore gowns in pink, yellow and blue, respectively.

Rev. Wasilyk of Radway officiated at the ceremony.

After the reception at the bride's home, a wedding dance took place at Frains hall. The community wish much happiness to the newlyweds. They will establish their home at Grassland.

Monday morning, Nov. 5, the children of Frains van were very pleased to have Victoria Kolack return to school. She was welcomed by the van driver, Mr. Corse, and the teachers of Grassland High School.

Three Frains boys have gone to Edison to work in the bush. They are Alex Pfau, John and Bill Chop.

John Soloski and his family have left Frains for the winter, but expect them to return in the Spring, when he will go on his Dad's farm.
